Project Summary

       The topic of my final project is a personal portfolio website. I created a homepage to welcome the viewer, a projects page featuring my past projects, a resume page that takes the viewer to a pdf of my resume, an about me page which features a picture of me and a small blurb introducing myself, and a contact page where the viewer of the website can send me a message.

       The purpose of this portfolio is to showcase who I am to potential employers in the future. I also wanted to make this project useful and something that I could actually use/add onto/work on in the future. I would also like to prove to myself that I am able to apply what I learned in class to a summative project!

       The extras I used include: a form, which is my contact page and that takes the viewer to a submissions page after they send a message, responsive web design, which I decided to make mobile-first, and an iframe, which features one of the past projects I've done.
